Canada

- The S&P/TSX Composite increased 0.86% on the week led by a 8.54% increase in the Energy sector.
- Canadian economic activity rebounded in September after contracting in the prior month as the pace of price increases cooled to its slowest in six months, Ivey Purchasing Managers Index (PMI). The seasonally adjusted index rose to 53.1 from 48.2 in August. A reading above 50 indicates an increase in activity.

United States

- The S&P/500 Composite increased 0.22% on the week.
- According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics US employers added an estimated 254,000 jobs in September much higher than the 59,000 jobs added in August. That is a much higher tally than August's monthly total (which was upwardly revised to 159,000) and it smashed economists' expectations for a 140,000-job gain. As a result, the unemployment rate dropped to 4.1% from 4.2%.
